

A large, light gray, stylized letter 's' logo that is partially obscured by the text 'schwa' and 'Language & Linguistics'.

schwa

Language & Linguistics

April 2015

Issue 12

Schwa: Language and Linguistics is published by the Department of Linguistics and English Language at Brigham Young University. Its contents represent the opinions of the authors and editors, and not necessarily those of the faculty or administration of Brigham Young University.

We are always looking for submissions and staff members. If you are interested, please visit us at schwa.byu.edu.

© 2015 by Brigham Young University. All rights reserved.

Table of Contents

- v Staff
- vii Editor's Note
- 1 Confusion in the Congregation
Loretta Farnsworth
- 7 Dutch Syntax
Matthew Fritzler
- 13 Fossilized LDS Church Phrases in the
Usage of Eliza R. Snow
Marie Bourgerie Hunter
- 27 The Power of Voice Merging in
Chaplin's The Great Dictator
Alex Masterson

35 Polysemous Concepts of Eternity in
Emily Dickinson and Eliza R. Snow

Jason Orme

45 The Future of Creaky Voice: Listener
Attitudes

Allen Warner

59 Teaching ESL Students Tools for Understanding Writing Prompts

Jain Willis

71 Influences on the Development of
Early Modern English

Kyli Larson Wright

Staff

Editor in Chief

Jonathan Jibson

Managing Editors

Mark Hales

Erin Steenblik

Senior Editors

Denya Palmer

Emily Cummings

Leah Davis

Madeline Greenhalgh

Tatiana Hernandez

Lisa MacKay

Heather Moon

Staff Editors

Talia Abbot

Brooke Anderson

Miriam Bay

Torrey Best

Heidi Bonham

Rachel Cannon

Diana Flores

Teya Jensen

Sarah Harris

Korynne Haymond

Hannah McLain

Hilary Nielsen

Thalia Pope

Morgan Reese

Jessica Staples

Christine Weber

Editor's Note

Jonathan Jibson

What a semester this has been for Schwa! We have worked our absolute hardest to ensure that our readers have an enlightening and enjoyable experience.

Times are changing for our beloved journal. Our website, schwa.byu.edu, was launched in earnest at the publishing of our last issue. It is our hope to publish in color from now on to benefit our online readership. We are now accessible to scholars and students across the globe. In fact, we will be calling for papers from the best linguistics programs across the country on a regular basis. This will allow as many undergraduate students as possible to share their academic accomplishments.

Our staff has been tenacious in building every aspect of our publication. They have contributed in everything from editing to web design to marketing. Many took on tasks beyond their official title, helping in crucial ways at crucial moments. Every staff member's efforts shine through in the articles that have been prepared for publication.

We extend a hearty thanks to all the authors who contributed to this issue of Schwa. They have done important work in linguistics, and it has been our privilege to publicize that work.

These articles are here for all. Read them again and again. Discuss them with your peers. Cite them when you write your next article. Contribute your own paper. Enjoy Schwa.

